The couple were married in Brooklyn, N. Y. After a time they came to Canaanville, this state, and lived on a farm. While on the farm place in Canaanville, Mrs. Walcott testified, her husband charged her and caused her and also accused of infidelity. At times she had to flee to her home. During the period of the world war Walcott at various times spent money in his wife's name. In 1929, she said, this being an aid to show that he was supporting his wife and their children in order that he might escape being called into service. During the past two years she has received but $20 from him.

Since then a new series of shares has been issued and 112 taken, so at the present time there are outstanding 2,673 shares in the hands of 458 individuals. The total assets of the association have increased to $28,798.73, and the income at the present time is in excess of $3,000 per month.

The number and amount of applications for loans have exceeded the amount of money on hand. No organization which has done much toward the upbuilding of residential Putnam, never has any difficulty in investing its money as fast as it comes in.

The Putnam high school football team has been having some scrimmage practice with the Putnam school players and have gained in playing knowledge from the experience, which is to be repeated. will close regularly at noon on that day until another summer season comes. Since early June the store workers have had Thursday half holidays and thoroughly enjoyed them. The last of these exciting periods brought beautiful weather and the most was made of it by those who had the afternoon off, many going out for motor trips or on little outings in the surrounding country.

"Some service" and "I'll say they're thoughtful" were ideas that may have flitted through the minds of Clarence Robinson, 24, and James Henry, 33, both colored, when an automobile, propped out on Killiney avenue Thursday morning and they were invited to ride into this city.

Robinson and Henry had been trudging along the highway from Danielson and were all set up by the morning sun when the machine came to a halt behind them. There was nothing philanthropic in the minds of the men in the machine, however, for two of them, Captain J. M. Bulger and Officer William Jarvill, had in mind looking up the two travelers as men who might be wanted for complicity in the freight car robbery at Plainfield during the early morning hours, two of the burglars having escaped.

Robinson and Henry denied all knowledge of that affair. They said they left Providence Monday and made their way to New London in search of work. Failing, they started for Putnam, where they hoped to get jobs on their old assignment as work train men, and had nearly reached the town when officers picked them up.

There was nothing to indicate that they were not telling the truth, but Captain Bulger decided to hold them until he could get in touch with Plainfield officers and obtain a better description of the two men who made good their escape from the railroad yards at that place.
